VILLA IN HEIDELBERG

One Saturday night, after finishing his work, the boy called Carl Sutherland, an old hunting and fishing friend of his father's. Carl, he said when the man picked up the receiver. I'm a father. We had a baby girl. Congratulations, boy, Carl said. How is the wife? She's fine, Carl. The baby's fine too, the boy said. Everybody's fine. That's good, Carl said. I'm glad to hear it. Well, you give my regards to the wife. If you called about going hunting, I'll tell you something. The
